Max's Trivia

In the American West in the 1800s, fights were common. However, they obeyed a rule. When to start. The signal to start was usually given by a bystander “by the drop of a hat”. In later years, the downward wave a hat signaled the beginning of a race or similar.

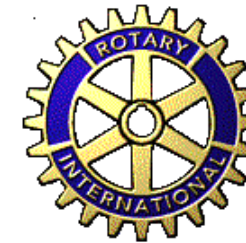

The Cue given to an actor is a single letter.

Drama scripts for the stage had the text and stage directions. These indicated WHEN to go on stage with the initial of this word which in Latin was QUANDO. So Q became Cue.

Henry Ford resigned from his business in 1902 and the company was bought by Cadillac which then became General Motors making the first Holden in 1948. Since then fierce rivalry between Ford and Holden has continued to the present date with the new Falcon declared the Car's Guide 2008 Car of the Year.
