Your fellow member - John Widdup

John thinks he has retired from paid work as a civil engineer having done none since early 2009 - and he is not looking for any. He currently fills his time with bike riding (local and touring), being Pedal Power ACT president and advocacy representative, doing Rotary jobs and generally enjoying himself.

John hales from Scotland and was brought to Australia in 1950 after which he misspent his youth in Raymond Terrace and Armidale.

His working life started in the Newcastle steelworks as a fitter and turner apprentice while doing Mechanical Engineering at the Tech. Following that he went full time to Newcastle University and obtained a Civil Engineering degree. Then as a civil engineer for nearly 40 years, he worked for contractors, government roads and works departments, research organisations and finally SMEC consulting engineers.

This work took him all around Australia and to many developing and developed countries in the Pacific, Asia, the Middle East and Africa and included a year in the USA doing a masters degree.

John has been married to Julia for over 40 years and they have two daughters and four grandchildren who live in Canberra.

John was president of your Rotary Club in 2005-06.

Ken Goard

Our guest speaker was member Ken Goard, who turned his radiology analytic skills to the little known topic of lake jetties. These phenomena occur in shallow still coastal lakes with low salt levels. They form from deposits of sediment brought down by a river that flows into the lake. Silt deposited by this process forms into long jetties which can run many kilometres into a lake.

The Mitchell River silt jetties that run into Lake King in the Gippsland Lakes are a good example. Another is formed by the Camden Haven River where it flows into the Watson Taylor Lake south of Port Macquarie. This jetty is easy to see and appreciate from the top of nearby North Brother Mountain. The Mississippi River delta contains a doozy, some 60km long.

Ken was intrigued about the absence of a lake jetty in Lake Alexandrina, at the mouth of Australia's largest river system, the Murray-Darling. Surely all that silt coming down would be deposited in a jetty? Diligent research unravelled the dilemma for Ken. Up to 1940 the Murray was tidal for up to 200km upstream. Once barrages with built in the 1940s, the conditions were more conducive for jetty formation. And lo and behold, one is taking shape, though with the Murray's minimal flow it will take some time.

Phil Ibbotson expressed our appreciation to Ken for enlightening us all on this unusual topic.

George Paulus Award

October is Vocational Service Month and tonight we are pleased to welcome Werner Feldner and his wife. Werner (pictured with Carlo) is to be presented with the George Paulus Vocational Service Award for Pride in Workmanship.

He has been a book binder in Canberra for many years and has produced many high quality bound books including the bound versions of our Ravens. Carlo Binutti and John Gray visited his Custom Craft Bindery business in Banks recently to learn more about his special craft and how he has pursued it since he was originally apprenticed in 1974.

We were both fascinated with Werner's remarkable guillotine (pictured) built in the 1890s and other special items of equipment. Werner is a real craftsman with a commitment to high quality production of bound books.

Club news

Spring Cycle: Rotary Spring Cycle Marketeer extraordinaire Julie Samuels spoke about the event, saying that pre-registration saved our bacon on the coldest spring day in 40 years. Sausage sizzler Steve Bell warmed up riders with a hot sausage sandwich upon their return. Overall Gungahlin was pleased to be involved in the event and is keen to be part of it again next year. President Ros presented Gungahlin President Steve with a cheque representing Gungahlin's share of the Bar-B-Q proceeds (and what a picture they made with matching presidential regalia of tie and scarf.

haven't put your name down for this already, contact President Ros.

ShelterBox: In light of natural disasters in the Philippines, Indonesia and Samoa, President Ros highlighted Rotary's Shelter-Box program. A Shelter-Box has thermal blankets, a rugged dome tent and survival equipment. It costs $1200 and provides dry shelter, a warm bed, light and heat, clean water, cooking aids and tools for 10 people.

The Shelter-Box website reports that over the past week they distributed more than $1.2 M of emergency shelter to our Pacific neighbours. In the previous month Shelter-Box responded to earthquakes and typhoons in Indonesia and the Philippines; massive flooding in West Bengal; a typhoon in China; hurricane in Mexico; and flash flooding in Niger. That's more than $2.6 million in a month in emergency shelter to those most in need. Now Shelter-Box is itself in need (of your donation). You can do that at www.shelterboxaustralia.com.au and mention you are from Rotary Club of Woden.
