Attendance last week: 85%

Question of the week: Who has won the Club's daily double?

REPORTS

Last week the Club was addressed by Alan Swinton on the activities of the Royal Life Saving Society. Broadly, the responsibilities adopted by the Society cover inland waters and their safe use. The presentation was very informative, especially with respect to the latest thinking on resuscitation. (ie two breaths per minute and as many rapid heart compressions as you can manage in between).

Reg Brown called for volunteers to participate on the open gardens project on 8 November.

Cyril Dann called for Club members to support the medi-alert program.

Andrew Polanowski called for volunteers to assist in moving the hole-in-one facilities to a place of storage.

Ray Gibson announced that Maxine McShane had won the daily double.

Rob Grey read the notices for:

RYDA.

Tasmanian Leaders Program.

Southern Cross Young Achievers Awards.

The UTAS program supporting recently arrived migrants to bridge cultural differences.

President Colin Heron thanked our guest speaker everyone who had been participating in various Club activities. He drew attention to the K&D BBQ as the Club's main fund-raising activity until our next hole-in-one and advised on the bookings for the first two months of 2009. Colin reminded Club members that Board members will meet next month and tickets are still available for the Club's daily double competition fund raiser from Ray Gibson.
